*PROVISIONAL CREDIT FOR PENDING AID: OCAC grants students provisional credit on their billing statements for pending financial aid. Pending financial aid does not constitute a payment of tuition and fees; it only delays the payment. Students who rely on provisional credit for the deferment of tuition and fees are responsible for completing the financial aid process. The temporary tuition and fee deferment provided by provisional credit expires if a student does not complete the financial aid process by the later of the second Friday of the academic term or thirty (30) days from the student's registration date. Upon the expiration of provisional credit, students with unpaid balances are subject to the College's tuition and fee payment policies, including possible administrative withdrawal.
